A little boy and his mother, shopping for Easter candies and decorations, ran into their minister in the store. Mom and reverend exchanged a little chit-chat. Then the reverend looked at little Johnny and asked, "So, what are you up to today?" "Oh," Johnny said, "We're getting ready for Easter!" Seeing a pedagogical opportunity, the reverend replied "Oh really? Hey, just what exactly is Easter anyway? Do you know what happened on Easter?" Little Johnny looked at the reverend a little offended. "Of course I know what Easter is. It's when Jesus went to Jerusalem, and he rode a donkey, and they waved palms at him." "That's right, go on" said the reverend." "And he got in trouble and he was beat up and yelled at and then they nailed him on a cross and then he died." "Very good Johnny! What happened next?" "Well then they put him in a tomb and they put a big rock in front of it. But three days later he got raised and got out of there." "Johnny, that's great!" said the reverend, pleased to know his Sunday School program worked so well. "But that's not all" said Johnny. "Oh, said reverend, what else?" "Well, the rock got rolled back, and he stepped out, and he looked around, and if he sees his shadow there's six more weeks of winter."

I've probably shared this one before :)
