Dear Parishioner:

In a few weeks the implementation phase of On Mission for the Church Alive! begins. All around the diocese, new clergy teams have been preparing by visiting the parishes of their grouping, participating in sessions for formation and information, and talking about a shared vision and their hopes for the future.

This letter announces the interim Mass schedule for our grouping. The new weekday schedule is effective on Monday, October 15, 2018, and the weekend schedule begins with the Vigil Masses on Saturday, October 20, 2018. Please remember that this schedule is interim, which means it will be evaluated and adjusted as necessary, after the clergy team has had sufficient time to celebrate Masses, and determine, with your feedback, how it meets the pastoral needs of all the parishioners in our grouping.

As the incoming administrator, I developed the interim schedule with input from the outgoing pastors, clergy teams and regional vicars. The schedule accommodates as best as possible, the number of priests assigned to the grouping, the seating capacity of the churches, parking availability, accessibility, Sunday religious education schedules, and geography and travel time between the churches.

We are embarking on a new endeavor to bring renewed energy around the practice of our faith in the whole diocese. Even as we face changing schedules and new clergy assignments we are called, as members of the Body of Christ, to promote unity and share our resources for the good of all people. May God continue to guide us always and in all ways.

Sincerely in Christ,
