Diocese kicks off Jubilee Year

Jubilee Mass for Youth and Youth Ministers held Jan. 14 at cathedral

SAM LUCERO | THE COMPASS

GREEN BAY — The Diocese of Green Bay kicked off the celebration of its 150th anniversary on Jan. 14 with the first of 12 Jubilee Year liturgies. Bishop David Ricken presided at the inaugural event, a Jubilee Mass for Youth and Youth Ministers, at St. Francis Xavier Cathedral.

"I welcome all of you and pray especially for the youth ministers," Bishop Ricken said. "Thank you for all you are doing for our young people in the diocese. I know sometimes it's not too easy, but we really appreciate you."

Fr. Dan Felton, vicar general of the Green Bay Diocese, and Fr. Michael Thiel, parochial vicar at Green Bay's Quad Parishes, joined Bishop Ricken for the Jubilee Mass. Several youth and youth ministers from around the diocese participated in the Mass as readers, altar servers and gift bearers.

In his homily, Bishop Ricken mentioned two saints whose statues grace the cathedral's worship space: St. Francis Xavier and St. John Paul II. Francis St. Francis Xavier Cathedral usher Patty Scasny distributes commemorative rosaries to youth attending the Jubilee Mass for Youth and Youth Ministers at the cathedral Jan. 14. Bishop Ricken celebrated the Mass, the first of 12 liturgies planned for the diocese's 150th anniversary.

Xavier, the cathedral's patron saint, "was a real missionary apostle," said Bishop Ricken. "He converted thousands and thousands of people to Christianity."

St. John Paul II "is really the main force behind the new evangelization," he said. His statue "is a reminder that our diocese is acting as disciples on the way, learning to re-introduce others to Jesus. That's what the new evangelization is all about."

Bishop Ricken told youth ministers and youth in attendance that they are living in "a very distinguished, important and humbling time in the life and history of this diocese."

FRANKLY, FRANCIS

Dear Brothers and Sisters,

Resuming the catechesis on the Eucharistic celebration, let us consider today, in the context of the Introductory Rites, the Penitential Act. In its sobriety, it favors the attitude with which we are prepared to worthily celebrate the holy mysteries, that is, by acknowledging our sins before God and our brothers and sisters, acknowledging that we are sinners. In fact the priest's invitation is addressed to the whole community in prayer, because we are all sinners. What can the Lord give to one whose heart is already filled with self-importance, with one's own success? Nothing, because a presumptuous person is incapable of receiving forgiveness, as he is satisfied by his presumed righteousness.

Lena High School volleyball teammates serve up kindness

BY TOM BESCHTA | FOR THE COMPASS

LENA — Sept. 19, 2015. It's a day that holds both sadness and joy for the small community of Lena. It was on this day that 10-year-old Kyle Hodkiewicz lost his two-year battle with leukemia. Though the sports-loving kid who never complained about his illness is missed, his determined spirit and faith have not been forgotten.

Since his death, Kyle has inspired countless efforts to help families and individuals suffering from medical ailments. These efforts include those of the Lena High School Girls Volleyball Team.

For junior Alayna Peterson, it's an opportunity to bring people together for a good cause.

"It's really nice to be able to go down and help these families, especially with knowing a family that went through that and how tough it is," Peterson said.

The team volunteered on Dec. 2, sporting orange T-shirts representing leukemia awareness. Diapers and other baby supplies were delivered, and the girls made snack bags for families to eat throughout the day.

5 THINGS YOU SHOULD KNOW

About Candlemas

PATRICIA KASTEN | THE COMPASS

- 1 Feb. 2 marks the midpoint between the start of winter and the first day of spring. It is also 40 days after Christmas.
- 2 Feb. 2 is called "Candlemas" in the Catholic Church. In France, it is Chandeleur; in Mexico, it is called the Día de la Candelaria. Food customs include pancakes and tamales.
- 3 The day commemorates the Presentation of the Lord in the Temple when he was 40 days old. The candles refer to Simeon calling Jesus "a revealing light to the Gentiles" (Lk 2:32).
- 4 Candles are blessed in churches on Feb. 2 and taken home by the faithful to be lit during the year, especially during thunderstorms.
- 5 Feb. 2 also honors the feast of the Purification of the Blessed Virgin Mary after the birth of her son, Jesus.

Personal stories of DACA recipients

This past summer, I wrote a column about immigration, in which I encouraged all of us to learn the stories of our immigrant brothers and sisters. Recently, I had the privilege to listen to the personal stories of five young women, who are DACA recipients and live in our diocese.

BISHOP'S CORNER

The DACA program (Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals), instituted by President Obama, allows undocumented individuals who came to this country as children to apply for legal status, enabling them to remain in this country, obtain a driver's license, and work legally. In order to qualify for DACA, they must meet several key requirements, and DACA must be renewed every two years. This past fall, President Trump announced that DACA would be ending in March of this year unless Congress enacts a permanent solution for these young people; often referred to as "Dreamers."

While I recognize the decisions surrounding DACA and immigration are generally quite complex, I also realize how important it is to understand the way these policy decisions are affecting real people in our neighborhoods. In today's column, I'd like to share with you some of the personal testimonies of the DACA participants I was fortunate to meet recently.

As I listened to each person's story, I was astounded by the many sacrifices that were made by the families who came here. When these young women arrived in the United States, their parents typically worked long hours, sometimes in multiple jobs, in order to provide for their children. Often, as young girls, they took on important roles in helping raise their siblings or serving as translators for their parents.

As a result, they were forced to grow up fast. One participant told me that during her high school years, she was putting in 13-hour days between school, work and extra college-credit classes. She did this in hopes that she could work her way up and take care of her parents someday as they reached retirement.

Another participant said of her parents, "They've given up so much for me. I want to make them proud." Each of the participants shared similar accounts of sacrifices they and their family members made for each other, beautifully illustrating the Christian concept of love, which is to will the good of another.

Through this visit, I also came to understand that DACA provides a lifeline for many young people. Before DACA, one woman said, she wondered if graduating high school even mattered, since it would be so difficult to get a job without documentation. When DACA became available, however, she received her work authorization, and at 16, she was able to work three different jobs to help pay the rent. Today she is attending college, has a job and dreams of one day being a teacher.

The entire column appears in our Jan. 19 issue.

Project 3

January began with the kick-off of St. John Bosco's third project, Project Lead the Way. PLTW is a national STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering and Math) program. It provides transformative learning experiences for students and teachers. The curriculum creates an engaging, hands-on classroom environment and empowers students to develop in-demand knowledge and skills they need to thrive. Teachers are provided training and resources to engage students in real-world learning. Using Launch and Gateway for our K-8 students in science, 2 of the 4 modules at each grade level K-8 will be implemented in fall of 2018. The remaining 2 will be implemented in fall of 2019. The full program will be in place in fall of 2020.

Launch (K-5) taps into students' exploratory nature, engages them in learning that feels like play, and encourages them to keep discovering – now and for years to come. Whether designing a car safety belt or building digital animations, students engage in critical and creative thinking, build teamwork skills and learn to try and try again when faced with challenges.

Gateway (6-8) sparks a joy of discovery and illuminates the range of paths students can look forward to in high school and beyond. Students apply knowledge and skills from a variety of disciplines. By tackling challenges like designing a therapeutic toy for a child with cerebral palsy, creating their own app, or solving a medical mystery, students are empowered to make a real-world impact.

This project is a 3-year project with staff development taking place during the summers of 2018 and 2019 for teachers. Training takes place at the Milwaukee School of Engineering for a period of 2-5 days dependent on the module.

We have most of the infrastructure in place from our Digital Transformation Project (project 1). I have begun writing grants for this endeavor and am making it the focus for curriculum donations and the Electric Moment at Gala. Please contact me if you wish to donate to this exceptional program. Join me and the staff as we continue on our journey toward excellence at St. John Bosco.

Archery Unit

BULLSEYE! Kids on Target

Learning Skills and Advancing Conservation

Door County is a county where many families have bow hunting as a life-long activity. Bringing the program into the school to allow everyone the opportunity to learn the necessary skills in archery is wonderful. So much of what archery has to offer benefits the students in other aspects of their lives: focus, concentration and goal setting. Students learn they must overcome distractions and obstacles, and have a plan of action. Archery provides a fundamental relaxation quality in that the archer must be focused on the immediate moment. Archery is a self-challenging and rewarding activity, blending physical and mental resources. Basic math skills are reinforced during routine scoring in archery.

Through the generous grants from Safari Club, Whitetales Unlimited, Department of Natural Resources and the National Archery in Schools Program we were able to fund an archery program for our middle school students (5-8). New Genesis bows, arrows, arrow curtain, bow rack, floor quivers, maintenance kit and targets were purchased with funding and have now arrived at the school. The archery unit began in mid-January. Many, many thanks to the above organizations for awarding the necessary monies for this new program and our physical education teacher, Tyler Jahn, for providing the necessary instruction for successful implementation.

You can be a special part of it by donating new, unused items for the event and/or attending the event itself. Bring your donation to the St. John Bosco school office during regular office by February 16, 2018 or call us and we will have someone pick it up. Help us make this the best event yet!

Catholic Schools Week

This weekend marks the end of Catholic Schools Week.

St. John Bosco School

students and staff enjoyed a week of knowledge, faith and fun. Students experienced "Back to the Future" with a teacher swap, participated in a student trivia challenge, "Mixed it Up", celebrated with the Special

People in their lives, and showed off their talents all in one week.

Classes even fit in a door decorating contest. Visit us on Facebook and see more pictures from our exciting week.

Reading Challenge Update

Students at St. John Bosco School are reading, reading, reading! Their incentive is to make Mrs. Dassler wear a hideous pair of yellow work pants. We have achieved over three quarters of our goal of 100,000 minutes.

According to our reading tracker, students have read 77,887 minutes. At this rate, by mid-February, we will have fulfilled our reading challenge. Check out the school website for updates on our reading totals.

Box Tops for Education

Thanks to the families and friends of SJB for collecting Box Tops. In January, we received a check for $511.00. Every little bit does add up! A big thank you too to Ginny Monfils for being our Box Top Coordinator!

Annual Chick Visit!

Fr. Birdsall brought in an incubator with eggs from three different breeds of chicken. We saw over 20 chicks hatch! Fr. spoke with 4K and Kindergarten and shared how the eggs came to be chickens! All the students and staff look forward to the chick visit each year.

Spaghetti Dinner Thank You

Thanks to the parishioners and friends who supported our Catholic Schools Week Spaghetti Dinner! We had a great turnout and the spaghetti was delicious. Many thanks to Sonny's Pizzeria, our families who worked the event and Forbes Funeral Home for donating the placemats. It was a great way to kick off Catholic Schools Week.
