Edge (for all middle school students) will take place on Wednesday nights starting on Wednesday, September 26th. Edge runs from 6-7:15pm at Corpus Christi for the first semester.

Life Teen (for all high school students) will take place Sunday nights starting on Sunday, September 30th. Life Teen starts with a 5pm Mass (all welcome). Following Mass, we feed the students and have our Life Nights until 8pm. We are at Corpus Christi for the first semester.

Sarah will be e-mailing and mailing out information to all parents on how they can get their student registered.

Confirmation will also kick off in September on Wednesday evenings. Parents, stay tuned for more details on registration and the calendar of events.

We are looking for adults to help with Edge, Life Teen, and Confirmation. Have you ever wanted to be part of something awesome and impactful? Maybe, just maybe God is nudging you to volunteer with our youth ministry. Our world is a tough place. Our young people have the power to make our world less scary. We need a team to help mentor them. The Youth Minister can't do this job alone. Our world would be more than happy to raise our kids...but we don't want that-we want them to know the love of Jesus and to grow into disciples of Jesus. You've heard the phrase, "it takes a village" right? We are looking to grow that village to help the young people! So, maybe you know someone (or maybe it's you) that wants to help raise the young Church. Does that sound scary? Maybe a little...but it's not. Sarah will help train you and guide you. The volunteers have such a great opportunity to meet and grow with the middle and high schoolers! Feel free to contact Sarah to talk about it!

Capuchin priest who built his own casket dies July 23

PATRICIA KASTEN | THE COMPASS

APPLETON — Capuchin Fr. Robert Udulutsch, 89, who built his own casket by hand, died July 23, following a battle with cancer. He was born in Norwalk, Wis., in 1929, the son of Michael and Sophia Udulutsch. He was invested in the Capuchin habit in 1948, professed perpetual vows in 1952 and was ordained a priest in 1956.

Fr. Bob taught art and industrial arts at St. Lawrence Seminary High School in Mt. Calvary from 1957 to 1971. After that, his ministry focused on preaching in Michigan and Wisconsin. He also ministered in the Middle East from 1988 to 1994.

In the late 1980s, Fr. Bob founded a ministry known today as LEAVEN (Limited Emergency Assistance Valley Ecumenical Network) in Appleton.

"He applied (his) many skills and talents to create LEAVEN," said Mary Parsons, executive director. "Thirty-one years ago, he recognized a problem, envisioned a better community for all people, marshaled the support of multiple stakeholders, responded to the demands of the Gospel to help the needy and built the foundation from which to execute his plans.

"Collaboration and social innovation are terms that are very much in vogue in the non-profit sector today. Father was a pioneer of both and a prophet of social justice," she said.

Parsons also remarked on the priest's impact on the local community, noting that more than 130,000 households have been served in these 31 years.

"In spite of all his amazing qualities and extraordinary accomplishments," Parsons said, "Father was very humble. He preferred to shine the spotlight on the volunteers, whom he held in high regard."

FRANKLY, FRANCIS

Dear Brothers and Sisters Good morning!

We have heard the first commandment of the Decalogue: "You shall have no other Gods before me" (Ex 20:3). It is good to pause on the theme of idolatry which is significant and timely.

The commandment bans us from setting up idols[1] or images[2] of any kind of reality[3]. Indeed, everything can be used as an idol. We are speaking about a human tendency that involves both believers and atheists. For example, we Christians can ask ourselves: who is truly my God? Is it the One and Triune Love or is it my image, my personal success, perhaps even within the church? "Idolatry not only refers to false pagan worship. It remains a constant temptation to faith. Idolatry consists in divinizing what is not God" (Catechism of the Catholic Church, n. 2113).

Franciscans sell Green Bay church and friary

BY SAM LUCERO | THE COMPASS

GREEN BAY — St. Mary of the Angels Church and Friary, owned by the Franciscans of the Assumption BVM Province, have been sold to a Fond du Lac developer. According to Franciscan Fr. James Gannon, the community's provincial who is based in Franklin, Wis., the sale will be completed in December.

The developer, The Commonwealth Companies, plans to turn the friary, which once housed up to 50 Franciscan priests, brothers and novices, into 20 apartment units. The Friar House Flats will include one- and two-bedroom units.

In addition, 20 two-story, three-bedroom townhouse units with attached garages will be constructed on the four-acre property behind the friary.

"The target population is families, but we are considering having a 55 and older preference on the friary units," according to a news release on the developer's website. Eight units "will be targeted for veterans and/or individuals at-risk of homelessness."

5 THINGS YOU SHOULD KNOW

About the True Cross

PATRICIA KASTEN | THE COMPASS

- 1 Sept. 14 is the feast of the Exaltation of the Cross, a celebration which dates back to A.D. 326.
- 2 St. Helena, the mother of the Emperor Constantine, located the True Cross of Christ, buried outside of Jerusalem. St. Macarius, the bishop of Jerusalem at the time, helped her.
- 3 The date of Helena's discovery was May 3, which was originally a feast known as the Invention of the Cross.
- 4 Helena ordered the building of the first Church of the Holy Sepulcher there, which was dedicated on Sept. 14, 335.
- 5 The Persians stole the True Cross in A.D. 614. It was recovered by the Emperor Heraclius and returned to Jerusalem on Sept. 14, 629.

Sexual abuse in the church

By now, many of you are aware of the accusations against Archbishop Theodore McCarrick, formerly a member of the College of Cardinals. I have been deeply grieved as I have read the details of his sexual abuse and harassment of minors, as well as seminarians and young priests. I am also saddened to know that these abuses went unaddressed for so long.

BISHOP'S CORNER

A few weeks ago, in our Sunday readings, we heard the warning of the prophet Jeremiah: "Woe to the shepherds who mislead and scatter the flock of my pasture, says the Lord." This passage serves as a reminder to anyone in a position of authority that with authority comes great responsibility. Any abuse committed by a church leader represents a failure in living up to this responsibility, not only on the part of the individual who abused, but for all leaders within the church. As your shepherd, I want to express my deepest regret for this failure.

Words of apology and regret in situations like this, however, are not enough. We must also learn from these mistakes and take action to ensure that these mistakes are not repeated. So what will be done?

Recently, Cardinal Daniel DiNardo, president of the U.S. Conference of Catholic Bishops (USCCB) convened the USCCB Executive Committee to address this issue. This will be the first of many meetings among bishops that will be oriented toward discerning the right course of action for the USCCB. I am committed to implementing any necessary changes that are recommended by the USCCB as a result of these discussions.

Here at home, we will continue to be diligent in preventing sexual abuse and harassment. Since I arrived here, I have pledged to protect all individuals from sexual abuse and harassment at the hands of anyone in the church. The diocese has a clearly established policy that was reviewed and revised this past March by our independent review board to ensure that we are following best practices. As part of that policy, we conduct background checks and require Virtus training for employees and volunteers. This training has been given numerous times to ensure that those who represent the church are equipped to protect all people they encounter.

Of course, policies cannot guarantee that a person will not be harmed by anyone within the church. For that reason, I urge anyone who has been sexually assaulted or harassed by someone in the church to come forward and report these allegations to civil and church authorities. I take these accusations very seriously and I pledge our cooperation with civil authorities to investigate these allegations and take necessary steps based on the findings of the investigation.

New Beginnings, New Challenges, New Blessings

September is the start of a new season, one in which we celebrate the brilliance and glory of the autumn colors just around the corner. September is also the time for students to start a new school year. Yes, this is a time for new beginnings. A time when we enthusiastically look ahead and glimpse into the future of what could be.

In a scripture reading, Paul writes to Timothy, probably a new church leader, about Paul's new beginning as a follower of Christ.

Paul tells Timothy that Christ invited him to a new beginning. His invitation would become an example of Christ's grace and forgiveness. Paul's message to those who would listen is that a sinner such as he could be forgiven. His belief in Christ comes not from the rhetoric of the church but from first-hand personal experience.

In his new beginning, Paul tells Timothy that his call was from Christ to let all know, no matter who you are or what you have done, you will be forgiven. By including Christ in your life, listening for his invitation, you will become stronger in your faith and be better able to make a difference in the lives of others.

But this invitation also has challenges. In Paul's case, it meant facing the same persecution as he was so willing to do in his former life. His reward was the blessings he received as he travelled to different communities of faith and the joy in helping them on their faith journeys. Despite incarceration, he continued to answer Christ's call by writing to the different groups he had visited. These letters were inspiring and thoughtful that spoke to the fledging following of Christ in the first century. For us, our blessing is that these letters speak to us today. While the letter to Timothy is short in comparison to other letters Paul had written, it does remind us that we are not alone.

The testimony of Paul tells us that, even though we may not be without sin, we are loved by Christ.

In accepting the forgiveness of Christ, we are opening ourselves to new beginnings in our own lives. With Christ's spirit alive in us, we are ready for new invitations and new challenges.

As we prepare to accept our new beginning, let us do so in the knowledge that we do so because we are loved. Let us be reminded that God is with us as we face the challenges ahead. Let us be comforted that we will receive God's blessings as we continue our journey.

First Day of School

The first day of school for St. John Bosco was Thursday, August 30.

We had excited students and staff ready to begin a new school year!

New Staff at St. John Bosco

Kindergarten - Nicole Aderholdt

My name is Nicole Aderholdt. I am the new Kindergarten teacher. I was recently married in December and moved to the Green Bay area. I enjoy riding my horse Kaiser and spending time up north with my family. I have been teaching for three years and previously taught at St. Anthony School in downtown Milwaukee. I'm looking forward to getting to know my students and their families.

Middle School History - Holly Scheer

Although I am originally from De Pere, my husband Kurt and I have had the pleasure of raising our four daughters (Kate, Nora, Emme, and Libby) in Sturgeon Bay. Prior to moving here, I received a bachelor degree in English and history from the University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh and a master's in education from Viterbo College. I have eleven years teaching experience predominately in high schools, but I am thrilled to be returning to teaching at St. John Bosco. My goal is that my students grow as learners but also as people. As we discuss in class how historically words and actions have changed events, I want the kids to recognize their own potential to positively impact others. Life is a daily struggle to be the best versions of ourselves, and self-analysis is part of that journey.

Middle School Science – Erin Fritsch

My name is Erin Fritsch and I am very excited to be a part of this amazing school and student body. I am a Door County native and graduated with a Bachelor of Science degree in Biology with a double minor in Chemistry and Education from the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay in 2012. I began my teaching career at Algoma High School where I taught Physical Science and Chemistry. I also taught Chemistry at Northeast Wisconsin Technical College as an adjunct instructor for 2 years. Apart from the traditional 'teacher role' I was an academic coordinator with the Door County Boys & Girls Club where I taught a math and reading program to 3rd graders along with a STEM program to all grade levels. I was also a part of the YWCA where I helped start a STEM program called TECHgirls to middle school girls in the Green Bay area school systems. I have a passion for STEM that runs deep and I am thrilled to be able to pass this on to my students. I hope to instill a love for learning in them and plan to guide them through their academic career with an understanding of the ever-changing world around us and the importance of keeping up with these changes. I want to spark their imagination, create excitement in learning and above all else help them realize their potential and ability to succeed and reach their dreams. Outside of teaching I love spending time with my family. I have 3 children, Lilah is 5 and entering Kindergarten, Oliver is 3 and Noah is 20 months. They keep my husband and I on our toes! As a family we love getting outdoors whether it's a nature hike, camping, kayaking or snowshoeing we generally find something to do outdoors no matter the season. If I'm not spending time with them or in my classroom, you might find me hitting the pavement. I love to run! I am so looking forward to meeting my students, getting to know the community better and implementing this amazing STEM program and science curriculum.

Middle School Religion – Penny Price

I am a native Door County, and I have taught in public schools for the past fifteen years. I have worked with grade levels from early childhood through high school, in many different subject areas, including English as a Second Language. As an active member of my church, I also am the religious education coordinator for St. Francis and St. Mary Parishes, as well as St. Peter and St. Hubert. With four children, who all attend St. John Bosco, I am thrilled to be a part of the teaching staff of such a wonderful, thriving, academically challenging school. Some of my hobbies include swimming, camping, and teaching my children the love of music.

Administrative Assistant - PM

Bridget Isaksen

I was born and raised in Door County and graduated from Sevastopol School. I have been married to my husband Jeff for 13 years and we have two sons, Aiden and Evan. Aiden is 11 and enjoys sports, riding his horse and driving anything motorized. Evan is 9 and enjoys reading, baseball and being outdoors. We do many things as a family including going to our family cabin in Michigan's Upper Peninsula, camping and riding our horses. I am so excited to be a part of this wonderful school and I look forward to getting to know all the children and their families.
