

Second Sunday in Ordinary Time
January 18, 2015

Reflection on the Scriptures

The Lord starts this new year by calling us as He called Samuel, Andrew, and Simon Peter. He is calling us to join Him:

- + not in a superficial way, but to love Him with all our hearts (Matthew 22:37)
- + in a Christian community of the others whom He has called, and
- + in waking up and renewing a sleeping Christ (see 1 Samuel 3:2-3)

We must accept all three aspects of the Lord's call, or we have rejected His call. Some say they've given their lives to Jesus, but are not willing to share their lives with other members of Christ's body, the Church. Others are working in parish renewal but are still compromised with the world and not totally living for Jesus. Christ's call is three-fold to accept Him, to accept true community life in His body, the Church, and to accept responsibility to help renew this broken body.

Jesus is turning around, noticing us following Him, and asking us: "What are you looking for?" (John 1:38) Our answers should be: "We're looking for a total commitment to You, community life in Your Church, and renewal for Your Church." Then Jesus says: "Come and see" (John 1:39)
